

The Great Gatsby Study Notes

Introduction to The Great Gatsby Study Notes

F. Scott Fitzgerald's The Great Gatsby remains one of the most frequently studied novels in high school and college literature courses. First published in 1925, this concise yet deeply layered work offers a penetrating critique of the American Dream, class structure, and the illusion of love in the Jazz Age. For students seeking to master the text, well-organized The Great Gatsby study notes are essential tools for unpacking its dense symbolism, complex characters, and timeless themes. This article provides comprehensive and easy-to-follow study notes designed to deepen your understanding and enhance your academic performance.

Whether you are preparing for an exam, writing an essay, or simply trying to grasp the novel's deeper meanings, these notes will guide you through every significant element. We will explore character motivations, thematic connections, and critical symbols, all while maintaining a focus on what makes this novel a masterpiece of American literature.

Overview of The Great Gatsby: Setting and Context

Before diving into specific characters and chapters, it is crucial to understand the world Fitzgerald creates. The novel is set in the summer of 1922, a period of unprecedented economic prosperity and social change in America. The story unfolds primarily in two fictional locations on Long Island: West Egg and East Egg.

- West Egg represents the "new rich"—individuals who have acquired wealth recently and often lack the social graces of the established upper class. Jay Gatsby lives here.
- East Egg symbolizes the "old money" aristocracy, families whose wealth has been inherited for generations. Tom and Daisy Buchanan reside here.
- The Valley of Ashes, a desolate industrial wasteland between West Egg and New York City, represents the moral and social decay hidden beneath the surface of wealth.
- New York City serves as a backdrop for much of the drama, a place of excitement, anonymity, and moral ambiguity.

Understanding this geography is essential because it maps directly onto the novel's central conflict between old money and new money, authenticity and illusion. As you compile your The Great Gatsby study notes, pay careful attention to how Fitzgerald uses setting to reinforce theme.

Character Analysis: Who is Who in The Great Gatsby

A thorough grasp of the characters is the foundation of any effective study guide. Each character in the novel serves a specific purpose, often representing a broader social or philosophical idea.

Jay Gatsby (James Gatz)

Gatsby is the embodiment of the American Dream gone awry. Born into poverty, he reinvents himself as a mysterious and extravagantly wealthy man. His entire existence is dedicated to one goal: winning back Daisy Buchanan, the woman he loved five years earlier. Gatsby's tragic flaw is his inability to accept that the past cannot be repeated. He believes that wealth can erase time and buy love, making him both a romantic idealist and a deeply deluded figure. For your study notes, remember that Gatsby is simultaneously a symbol of hope and a cautionary tale about obsession.

Nick Carraway (The Narrator)

Nick is both a participant in and an observer of the story. As the narrator, he provides the reader with a moral lens through which to judge the events. He comes from the Midwest, which represents traditional values, and he is drawn to the excitement of the East while being repulsed by its corruption. Nick is the only character who shows genuine care for Gatsby, and his final judgment—that Gatsby is "worth the whole damn bunch put together"—is central to the novel's meaning.

Daisy Buchanan

Daisy is the object of Gatsby's obsession. She is beautiful, charming, and utterly superficial. Daisy represents the allure and the emptiness of the upper class. She is drawn to wealth but lacks the courage to leave her comfortable, hypocritical life. Her voice, which Nick famously describes as "full of money," hints at her materialism. In your study notes, consider Daisy as a symbol of the corruption that wealth and privilege can breed.

Tom Buchanan

Tom is Daisy's husband and the novel's primary antagonist. He is a brute, arrogant, and racist individual who represents the brutality of the old money aristocracy. Tom's wealth has made him entitled and cruel, and he feels no remorse for his actions. He is the physical embodiment of the wall that separates Gatsby from his dream.

Jordan Baker

Jordan is a professional golfer and Daisy's friend. She is cynical, dishonest, and self-centered. Jordan serves as a foil to Daisy and a romantic interest for Nick. Her casual dishonesty reflects the moral decay of the society Fitzgerald critiques.

George and Myrtle Wilson

George Wilson lives and works in the Valley of Ashes. He is a hardworking but downtrodden man who represents the forgotten lower class. His wife, Myrtle, is Tom's mistress. She is desperate to escape her lower-class existence and is vulgar and ambitious. Their fates underscore the tragic consequences of the wealthy characters' carelessness.

Key Themes in The Great Gatsby

Themes are the backbone of any literary analysis. Your The Great Gatsby study notes should include a clear explanation of the novel's major themes, as they are the most frequently tested topics in exams and essays.

The American Dream

The novel presents a powerful critique of the American Dream. Gatsby achieves immense wealth, but he does so through illegal means (bootlegging and shady business deals). Moreover, his wealth does not bring him happiness or acceptance. Fitzgerald suggests that the American Dream is an illusion, especially for those who are not born into privilege. The green light at the end of Daisy's dock symbolizes this ever-elusive dream.

Class and Social Stratification

The divide between old money and new money is a central conflict. The Buchanans represent the entrenched upper class, and they ultimately destroy Gatsby to protect their own social position. The novel argues that class barriers are nearly impossible to overcome, no matter how much wealth one accumulates.

Love and Obsession

Gatsby's love for Daisy is less about her as a person and more about what she represents: wealth, status, and a lost past. This is not true love but obsessive nostalgia. Fitzgerald contrasts this with the shallow, transactional relationships of Tom and Daisy, suggesting that genuine love is absent from this world.

Vision, Illusion, and Reality

Gatsby's entire life is built on a carefully constructed illusion. From his fake Oxford story to his extravagant parties designed to attract Daisy, he lives in a world of his own making. The novel explores the tension between how things appear and how they truly are.

Important Symbols to Track in Your Study Notes

Symbolism is one of the most important literary devices in The Great Gatsby. Including a dedicated section in your study notes will help you quickly identify and analyze these symbols in essays.

- The Green Light: Located at the end of Daisy's dock, the green light represents Gatsby's hopes and dreams for the future. It is a symbol of the American Dream and the unattainable nature of his goal.
- The Eyes of Doctor T.J. Eckleburg: These faded eyes on a billboard in the Valley of Ashes are often interpreted as the eyes of God watching over a morally bankrupt world. They represent the absence of divine justice.
- The Valley of Ashes: A physical and moral wasteland, the valley symbolizes the decay of society and the cost of the pursuit of wealth.
- Gatsby's Parties: These lavish events represent the emptiness of the wealthy lifestyle. People come and go without invitation, use Gatsby's hospitality, and spread rumors about him, yet they rarely show any genuine interest in him.
- East Egg vs. West Egg: These two locations symbolize the class divide. East Egg is inherited wealth and social superiority; West Egg is new money and social awkwardness.

Chapter-by-Chapter Summary for Quick Reference

When studying a novel, having condensed summaries of each chapter can be immensely helpful. Here are concise notes for key chapters of The Great Gatsby.

Chapters 1-3: Introduction to the World

Nick Carraway moves to West Egg and visits his cousin Daisy and her husband Tom in East Egg. He meets Jordan Baker and learns about Tom's affair with Myrtle Wilson. Nick attends one of Gatsby's extravagant parties and finally meets the mysterious host. These chapters establish the setting, introduce the major characters, and set up the central mysteries surrounding Gatsby.

Chapters 4-6: The Past Revealed

Gatsby takes Nick to lunch in New York and tells him a fabricated story about his past. Nick learns the truth about Gatsby's background: he was born James Gatz, fell in love with Daisy in 1917, and has built his fortune in part through criminal activity. Gatsby and Daisy reunite at Nick's house, and their affair begins. These chapters are critical for understanding Gatsby's motivation and the depth of his obsession.

Chapters 7-9: The Tragedy Unfolds

The simmering tensions come to a head. Tom confronts Gatsby about his affair with Daisy. Daisy, driving Gatsby's car, accidentally hits and kills Myrtle Wilson. Gatsby takes the blame to protect Daisy. George Wilson, believing Gatsby killed Myrtle, murders Gatsby and then kills himself. The novel ends with Nick arranging Gatsby's funeral, which almost no one attends. The Buchanans retreat into their wealth, leaving the wreckage behind them.

Essential Quotes for Analysis

Memorizing and analyzing key quotes is a proven strategy for top marks. Here are several essential quotations to include in your The Great Gatsby study notes.

1. "Gatsby believed in the green light, the orgastic future that year by year recedes before us." (Final line) - This quote encapsulates Gatsby's hopeful but tragic pursuit of an unattainable dream.
2. "Her voice is full of money." (Nick) - A perfect line that links Daisy's charm directly to her materialism and social status.
3. "They were careless people, Tom and Daisy—they smashed up things and creatures and then retreated back into their money or their vast carelessness... and let other people clean up the mess they had made." (Nick) - This is the novel's most direct condemnation of the wealthy elite.
4. "Can't repeat the past? ... Why of course you can!" (Gatsby) - This line reveals Gatsby's tragic delusion and his refusal to accept reality.
5. "You always look so cool. You resemble the advertisement of the man." (Daisy to Gatsby) - This highlights how Daisy sees Gatsby as a product or an image, not a real person.

Study Strategies for Mastering The Great Gatsby

Knowing the content is only half the battle. Using the right study strategies can make your review sessions far more effective. Here are several tips to help you get the most out of your The Great Gatsby study notes.

Create a Character Web

Draw a diagram connecting all the major characters. Draw lines between characters who have relationships, and write a brief note about the nature of that relationship. This visual tool will help you see the dynamics of the story at a glance.

Use Active Recall

Instead of simply re-reading your notes, close them and try to recall the major themes, symbols, and character traits from memory. Write down everything you remember, then check your notes for accuracy. This method significantly improves retention.

Practice Writing Thesis Statements

For each major theme, write a sample thesis statement. For example: "In The