University Years and the Birth of a Vision

The Founding and Growth of Christ Embassy

Establishing the Church in Lagos

In 1987, Pastor Chris Oyakhilome officially founded Christ Embassy in Lagos, Nigeria. The early days were modest. Services were held in small venues and hotel conference rooms. The initial congregation was small, but the energy and dedication were immense. Pastor Chris focused on what he called "the message of the Word"—a gospel centered on the power of faith, the reality of the Holy Spirit, and the believer's authority in Christ.

His approach to ministry was distinct. He emphasized correct doctrine and practical application of biblical principles. This resonated with a young, urban population looking for spiritual answers that applied to their daily challenges. The church grew rapidly, and within a few years, Christ Embassy had become one of the most recognizable church names in Nigeria.

International Expansion and Global Presence

The growth of Christ Embassy was not confined to Nigeria. Driven by a vision to reach the entire world, Pastor Chris established churches in the United Kingdom, the United States, South Africa, Canada, and many other nations. By the early 2000s, Christ Embassy had become a truly global network with thousands of branches.

A significant part of this expansion was powered by media. Pastor Chris understood early on that television and the internet could be tools for evangelism on an unprecedented scale. LoveWorld Television (now LoveWorld Networks) became the vehicle for his messages to reach living rooms across Africa, Europe, and the Americas. His flagship broadcast, "Atmosphere for Miracles," drew millions of viewers worldwide.
